Read the article below and answer the following question.

France's parliament voted unanimously on May 21 to ban food waste in big supermarkets, notably by outlawing the destruction of unsold food products. Under the new legislation, supermarkets will have to take measures to prevent food waste and will be forced to donate any unsold but still edible food goods to charity or for use as animal feed or farming compost. All large-sized supermarkets will have to sign contracts with a charity group to facilitate food donations. French people throw away between 20 to 30 kg of food per person per year costing an estimated 20 billion euros annually. The French government is hoping to slice food waste in half by 2025.
